Dear Customer,

Thank you for inquiring about the status of Indigo supplies in relation to the US Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act (CPSIA). It is our understanding that under the Act, the parties responsible for certification are the manufacturers of the finished products that are within the scope of the Act and not the machine or materials suppliers. Testing and certification applies to the product as a whole and not their individual components.

Nevertheless, we are of course committed to supporting our customers with this. Testing is underway and we are preparing to shortly issue a declaration regarding compliance of our inks with the lead and phthalates restrictions set forth in the Act. To the best of our knowledge and information to date our inks do not contain lead or phthalates regulated under the Act beyond possible trace levels, well below thresholds set under the Act. Please note that this declaration does not nor will not replace the manufacturer's legal obligation to test and certify the product as a whole.

We will be in contact shortly.

Sincerely,

Paul England
